is the third of a series of articles describing the various sites suggested for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition and the advantages urged for such.

The shippard area at Hog Island is indorsed by W. L. Pinck, C. F. Neff and Victor Wierman, architects, 1200 Locust street, as the site of the Sesrei-Centennial Exposition in 1926. The tract contains about 850 acres

Moore Says Company Would Be Getting Frankford "L" for Nothing

CITY OPERATION PREFERRED

Mayor Moore does not approve of the latest offer of the P. R. T. Company for operation of the Frankford elevated line. He made this plain yesterday following a conference with Richard Weglein, president of Council. All losses for the first year are to be assumed by the company, under the latest offer, after which the city is to be paid a rate of interest, on a sliding scale, until it reaches 5 per cent a year on construc-

Mr. Moore said he felt that the com was getting the elevated line for nothing, at least in the first year of operation. He indicated that he stood firm for a flat 5 per cent return upon the $15,000,000 invested by the the $15,000,000 invested by the municipality in constructing the line. While conceding that the latest offer from Thomas E. Mitten, persident of the company the company, was the most liberal re-cently made, the Mayor did not regard it as fair from the city's standpoint.
